Full Picture Less than 10

Anonymous 2 Nov 2017 - 6:03:36 PM

You can count the people who have the full picture on two hands.

Of those (less than 10 people) only three are non-military.

Why is this relevant?

Game theory.

Outside of a potential operator who has been dialed-in w/ orders (specific to his/her mission) nobody else has this information.

Operators never divulge.

Alice & Wonderland.

3/ what about ZULU time?

What's used by pilots all over the world.

It's the Z Zulu time zone, aka UTC in England

4 hours ahead of Eastern Time in summer

5 hours ahead of Eastern Time in winter

timeanddate.com/worldclock/tim...

What is UTC or GMT Time?

Weather observations around the world (including surface, radar, and other observations) are always taken with respect to a standard time. By convention, the world's weather communities use a twenty four hour clock, similar to "military" time based on the 0° longitude meridian, also known as the Greenwich meridian.

Prior to 1972, this time was called Greenwich Mean Time (GMT) but is now referred to as Coordinated Universal Time or Universal Time Coordinated (UTC). It is a coordinated time scale, maintained by the Bureau International des Poids et Mesures (BIPM). It is also known as "Z time" or "Zulu Time".

To obtain your local time here in the United States, you need to subtract a certain number of hours from UTC depending on how many time zones you are away from Greenwich (England). The table below shows the standard difference from UTC time to local time.

The switch to daylight saving time does not affect UTC. It refers to time on the zero or Greenwich meridian, which is not adjusted to reflect changes either to or from Daylight Saving Time.

However, you need to know what happens during daylight saving time in the United States. In short, the local time is advanced one hour during daylight saving time. As an example, the Eastern Time zone difference from UTC is -4 hours during daylight saving time rather than -5 hours as it is during standard time.

| UTC  | Standard Time |      |      |      |      |      |      |      | Daylight Saving |      |      |      |

4/ Cue says to "wind the clock" like pilots?

Cue uses a LOT of aviation metaphor:

"ILS approach good" "40,000 feet" "Geronimo" etc.

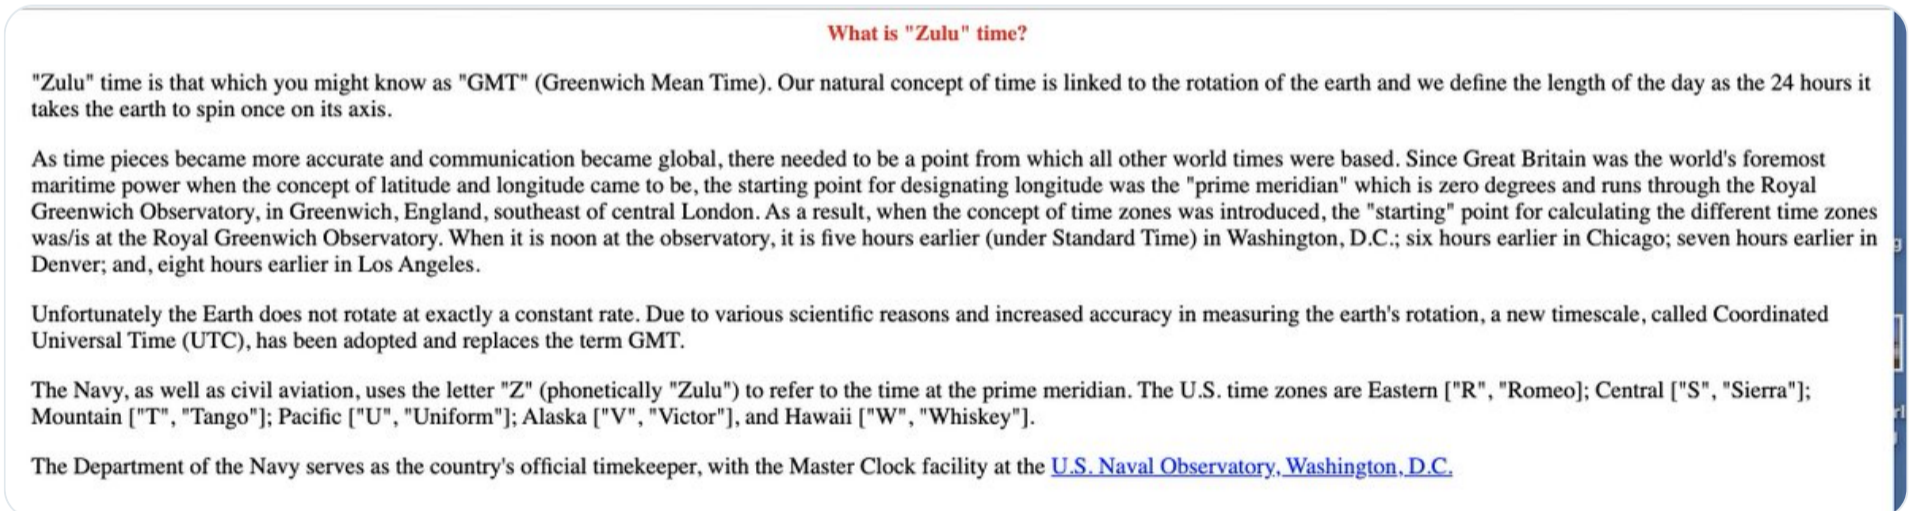

5/ I got two answers:

First, WIND THE CLOCK is what every pilot in every plane does before every flight

Set the Airplane clock to ZULU TIME. It used to be called Greenwich Mean Time GMT

Now it's UTC due to the history you can read below:

6/ So, if you're taking off in an airplane from Wash DC, you're on EDT, so you WIND THE CLOCK 4 hrs ahead during summer and 5 hrs ahead during winter

Convert to the 2400 military system?

You get this:

HH:MM:SS

We recognize this from the Cue drops

7/ the OTHER meaning of "wind the clock" in aviationspeak deals with how to handle an in-flight emergency.

Instead of a knee jerk quick reaction if some indicator says something is awry...pilots are trained to be cool-headed and "wind the CLock"

Wind the clock before an emergency.

The flight.

We had a normal startup and Case 1 takeoff. Then, 45 minutes into flight, after we completed the mission, we observed high oil pressure on No. 1 engine at military power. The crew retarded the throttle to idle and monitored engine instruments. The aircrew requested a straight-in approach using only the No. 2 engine, leaving the No. 1 engine at idle. As the aircrew prepared for approach (checklists, navigation, adjusting gross weight, etc.), the No. 1 oil pressure increased while the No. 1 engine was at idle. The aircrew secured the No. 1 engine, following NATOPS, and flew a straight-in approach to landing.

The recap.

As we debriefed this flight, I remembered my crusty simulator instructors at the training command. They had preached about winding the clock before executing emergency procedures. They were right! Few emergencies in the S-3B, or in any aircraft, require a mad dash through the procedures. You must calmly and methodically set priorities and apply NATOPS. Certain catastrophic situations may accelerate the necessary responses, but aviating, navigating and communicating remain the bread and butter for any aviator. How an aircrew determines its priorities and responds to emergency situations is affected greatly by crew resource management (CRM).

CRM is necessary during all flights, but some flights prove to be exceptional CRM opportunities, usually when something goes wrong. The flight described above is an excellent example. It had promised to be an exciting flight: a 1 + 15 cycle for some bombing, SSC and mission tanking. It was a beautifully clear (and rare) Arabian Gulf morning.

8/ we non-pilots may think of WIND THE CLOCK somewhat like being suspended in time for a moment.

Time to do nothing for a moment.

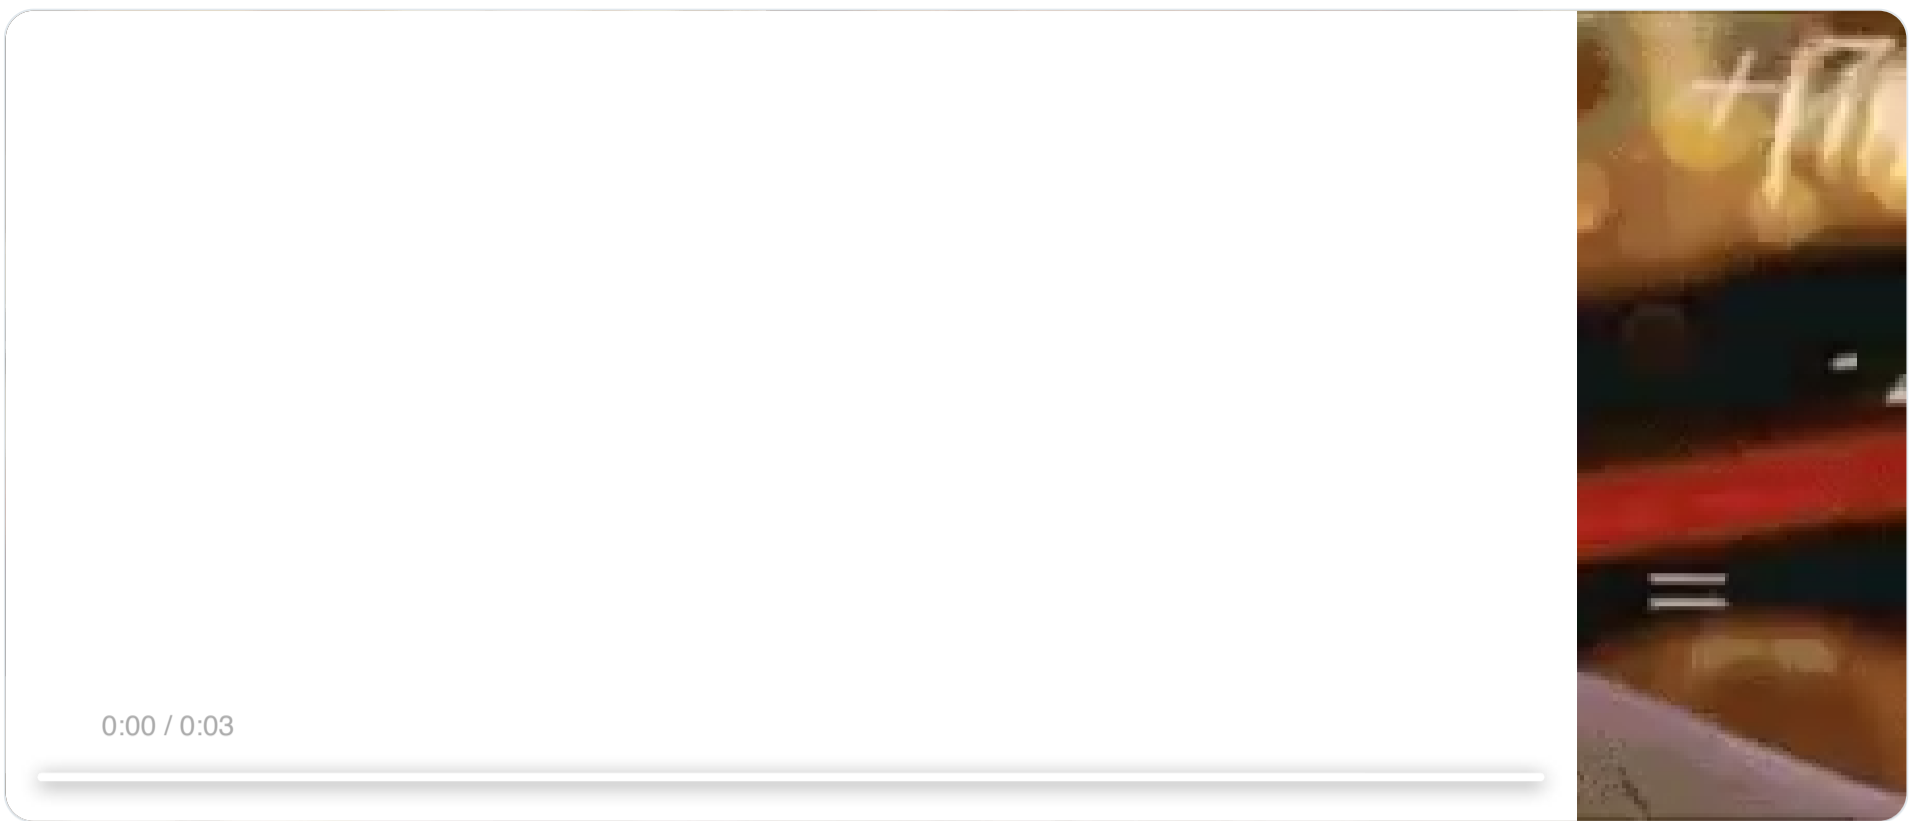

Take a deep breath.

THINK back through methods, procedures, checklists.

THEN and only THEN, react.

kinda like what we call "temporal distortion"?

9/ WIND THE CLOCK methodology is used by some Anons to decode the Map

I do not impugn motive, I've tried a lot of decoding myself. Some results seem legit, some not.

It's a good idea therefore to Always end decodes with a ???

What are the methods?

10/ here's one: Wind the Clock is determined to mean to add 12 hour intervals to a timestamp.

Here it's done yesterday to a POTUS tweet at 4:45 PDT. +12hrs = 16:45.

Cue drop 1645.

That's a lot of assumptions.

Why not use ZULU, how pilots REALLY 'wind the clock'?

Like pilots do?

Then? you'd get

4:45 + 7 hrs = 11:45

cue drop 1145 is this:

Good advice, yes, but is there really any special 'decode' really there, connecting to the POTUS tweet?

hmmmm

12/ I'm gonna suggest an alternative:

From CLOSE READING 1-60 Cue drops?

it appears to me that 1-60 are the MARKERS, the CRUMBS as Cue calls them.

Just use the MINUTES from the CLOCK, across all time zones and read from Cue drops 1-60

ZULU = ZERO HOUR!

HH:MM:SS

00:MM:00

13/ the above example, if it was even intended by POTUS for further decode, would get us to drop :45

However, I would proffer that just POTUS tweets with "misspellings" should be further decoded. Not every tweet?

What relevance does it have?

Who made the deal?

Do we care about Donna or those who instructed her to violate the law?

Why is this being leaked v. simply prosecuted privately?

POTUS Welcome in Saudi Arabia

Anonymous 2 Nov 2017 - 4:04:05 PM

How did SA welcome POTUS during his trip?
Why was this historic and not covered by MSM?
How did SA welcome BO during his trip?
How did SA welcome HRC during her trip?
Why is this relevant?
Not suggesting SA is clean by any means but they play a role in this global game of RISK.

Combine all posts and analyze.
The questions provide answers.
Remember, information is everything, the flow of information is no longer controlled by the MSM but by you/others.
Hence, why we are dedicating critical' time to distribute crumbs which can be followed in greater detail to paint the entire picture once more information is released.
Why has POTUS dedicated so much time into labeling the MSM as fake news?
Why is this relevant?
We are fully prepared that all social media will be shut down to prevent the spread of this information (i.e. POTUS' Twitter etc. and/or mass censoring).
Sealed Federal orders pre-submitted as prevention and masked as 'in general' (though that does not account for rogue agents/programmers within).
Dates (impending actions) are deliberately provided for authenticity.

at the eleventh hour

COMMON If something happens at the eleventh hour, it happens at the last possible moment. Some of the exhibitions were cancelled at the eleventh hour. Then, at the eleventh hour, I had an accident that almost stopped me from entering the competition. Note: An eleventh hour decision or action is one that occurs at the last possible moment. This eleventh hour decision came as something of a surprise. The company has sold off 31 social clubs in an eleventh hour deal. Note: This expression comes from the Bible, where Jesus uses it in the story of the labourers in the vineyard (Matthew 20:1-16). In Jesus's time the hours were counted from dawn until dusk, with the twelfth hour bringing darkness, and so the eleventh hour was the last hour before dark.

18/ while I was thinking 1-60, with 60 = zero.

Another Anon saw drop 0 that started it all.

Cue responded to this ZERO post:
so perhaps it's 0-59?

WILL THIS BE ZERO HOUR? In every sense of the word?

19/ also Cue tells us that 6 o'clock can be dangerous.

Metaphorically to "have someone's six, is to protect their back from an enemy"

In military time, 6 o'clock is 1800; On a Zulu watch is shows as 12. PAST the 11th HOUR, the "last possible

21/ and LOOK also at the "11 marker"?

it's between 22 [11/11 marker] and 23.

Now comes the PAIN--23!!!
