

I work as a programmer writing code, algorithms for AI machine learning, and more recent projects in the brain sciences in biotech fields.

With innovation, we must keep our eyes on the potential disruptions that can occur as well. mRNA platforms enable the ability to include optogenetics to extract opsins- (light-sensitive proteins) which then can be delivered thru infections or injections. Vectors such thru novel Adenovirus's that can include Luminopsins [LMOs]. These Luminopsins or LMO's can allow manipulation of neuronal activity in the brain, externally.

There has been a vast increase in Optogenetics and chemogenetics programs. Besides using modified Adenovirus, (SarsCov-19 it certainly one of these) there is also DREADDs - Designer Receptors Exclusively Activated Designer Drugs has been used with marked success as well. Why is this all important? DREADDs allow us to be able to manipulate neurons without having to ever implant anything into our brains. Once the Opsins are inside us they can be expressed in eyes, brains, or skin to turn on or off neurons and manipulate behavior (sudden fear, weakness, energy, or serve as an emotional feedback loop). There is of course much potential in these for the advancement of medicines, while risks to our autonomy with potential biofeedback.

However, without taking the time to understand these novel platforms' security vulnerabilities, they will open a pandora box of a near-future where our brain's 8th sense of Interoception can be disrupted, remotely.

My input, 8th sense of interoception explained: The Interoceptive system gives us the ability to feel what is happening inside our body. It has special nerve receptors all over our bodies including our internal organs, bones, muscles and skin. These receptors send information to the brain which uses it to determine how we feel. The purpose of the interoceptive system is to help our bodies stay in a state of optimal balance known as homeostasis. If the body needs energy, you feel hungry, so you eat. If the body is fatigued, you feel tired, so you sleep. Hunger, fatigue, body temperature, nausea, pain, sexual arousal... all of these conditions are sensed by the interoceptive system. The interoceptive system is also responsible for allowing us to feel our emotions.

A terrifying fact that opsins react/activate via remote control by flashes of light or EMF pulses. Much has been discovered about our little talked about, but all-important 8th sense of Interoception. This 8th sense plays a key role in how our brain projects control our internal body and organs, triggering conscious behavior and subconsciousness auto-pilot neuronal activities.

As a professional working in tech I understand its complexities make it difficult to engage the public. There are many important discussions not taking place in society. We are zooming into a new world, with its accelerated reset of a more digitalized world where technocrats can now rule by algorithms.

The greatest threat I believe is the disruption of our consciousness. Many are not aware of the many advancements in the brain sciences, AI, emergent intelligence and bio technologies that have abilities to manipulate our consciousness at the interoceptive sense level.

Our free will and our glorious creative capabilities that makes us human is at risk. Especially because our brains don't have firewalls (at least not yet).

I am always upfront with my bias, that I currently believe that our consciousness can not be modeled computational -- no matter how hard scientism wants it to be. As I understand his comment here, he's referring to the attempts to download consciousness, into a a virtual state of sorts (outside of human bodies).

He continues, I have witnessed how fast the golden standards that postulates scientific discovery through its rigorous scrutiny and public peer review debate, can be quickly dismissed.

The loudest voices that the public can hear now across the world are the ones engineering humanity to propagate conditioning, that instills us to fear one another. This only further divide us away from human to human connections. This benefits profiteers aims for more control over our greatest value -- our human minds. Now that the pandemic has triggered emergency use and rush to launch these novel mRNA platforms, and Without the usual best-practices timeframes we learned from installing payloads to machines, we have to be careful we understand that encoded Luminopsins can open up vulnerabilities to our consciousness.

After all, it's our precious brains and the interoception that controls what's inside us that we must understand how to firewall before rushing thru beta installment without any discussions about bio-security risks.

Many are not aware of just how fast the arena of brain sciences has advanced - we have seen under 4 programs explode to over 200 in the last two decades. This does not include all the advanced ISC (Integrated Scientific Convergence) programs over at DARPA this past decade.

I often share and remind myself that unlike machines, our brains do not have firewalls. At least not yet.

I have found a helpful video (The clickbait title not so much) that presents some important questions about Luminopsins [LMOs] and mRNA platforms potential.

Hello Leslie,

Thank you for sharing my thoughts on the subject of the advanced AI and brain technologies as well as giving more definition to the lesser known, but very important 8th sense of interoception.

I am huge fan of Naomi's books and I believe there is much information around biotech that must become more transparent and discussion around the risks on the programs that our tax money funds. We must create more awareness within medical industry and speak about the obvious contradictions and fraud around Covid-19 . Many well informed doctors are not even aware that Moderna mRNA does not fit the definition of a vaccine, as it does not provide immunity.

In a normal world anybody making a medical claim or misrepresent a cure or immunity would be considered a fraud and would be met with the FDA violation, and yet we live in a 24 hr non stop propaganda calling mRNA gene therapies as vaccines. They can do so with immunity because under emergency use, they are not liable to any fraud or damage. The most obvious fact is that Moderna has never defined their company as vaccine manufacture. They create new gene therapy technologies via chemotherapy.

I believe we are at that moment in humanity, where we must respect what is natural and when to say no when the synthetic becomes dangerous.

The problem is there are not many familiar with how far advanced brain sciences, AI, machine learning, data collection, biotechnologies, nanotech, and much darker synthetic biology (already developed by outfits such as DARPA) have become. It will enable these corrupt technocrats to usher in their anticipated 'Fourth Industrial Revolution.'

A revolution that will forever change what it is to be human. A near-future where the promise of human 2.0 is only reserved for this parasite class, while the rest of humanity suffers as our bodies and brains become transfected and genetically modified by their code of power over our biological energy and resources.

This parasite class has a historical record of brutality when they have failed to find cover for their own failed systems. So C19 shouldn't surprise anyone paying attention.

The parasite 1% Technocrats write code now. Rule by algorithm gives them push button control. Their obsessive desire to squash anything natural down to a computational order has enabled these parasites to drive their grotesque technocratic utopia over the finish line.

They encode “viruses” and give them a weaponized, video-game identity. In this video game, you lose all your freedoms and must display gratitude and servitude. Viral code trumps all other forms of politics.

First, law I understand:

Anything that tries to frighten you comes from “opposition,” in a spiritual battle. It’s not the Holy Spirit, period. Ignore its threats and keep your wits about you. You don’t have to shout, “Stay safe!” to your neighbors. We are safe. We have an immune system that is a miracle like The Sistine Chapel. It withstands toxic, microbial inundation on a grand scale at all times, while operating a superhighway of adaptive life-sustaining genetic information, on cellular bridges, emitting telegrams of vital evolutionary code, slandered as “viruses” or “retroviruses.”

The people who have taken all your freedoms away, they’re social engineers, politicians, globalist thought leaders, bankers, WHO fanatics, and the like. Their army is composed of “mainstream media,” which is now literally around-the-clock perfect propaganda machine for the Gates-led Pandemic Reich. Another problem. They are about to reboot our biological OS.

In this new world, we all have become disposable on their fast track to transhumanism. There is one vulnerability that these technocrats never want the public to realize and that is, all their power rests on controlling our perceptions. Once the public loses faith in these false illusions they claim as real, the whole house of cards come crumbling down. Their fake fiat currency systems, the fake pandemic, their fake claims that they have our best interests.

I often refer to the children's fable ‘The Emperor Wears No Clothes’ for some keys to help us break these illusions. We must look at the world again with our child like eyes to see that they are naked, all while not being fearful of sharing the facts.

The boxes we live in now were not created by God nor Nature, but that of illusions that are reinforced by a culture that takes us out of the body and sells our loyalty into political systems, into religions, into inanimate objects and machines, collections, so forth and so on. There is no liberation to compare with freeing oneself from the illusions and delusions of the age in which one lives. We need to provoke ourselves to explore more and share more of everything that is inside us. Only then will we discover God's plan for us that is full of harmony, grace, humility, and above all unity under God
