PROGRAM 1 – TED Conferences

Likewise, TED's strategic audience development team researches the attendees who will be best placed to hear those ideas -- and act upon them.

Each year at the TED Conference, we announce the winners of The Audacious Project, an exciting initiative evolved from the former TED Prize. TED's dedicated research team scours the world to unearth daring new ideas that might make a difference to our global quality of scrutinizing potential award whose innovative ideas, with the right support, can produce seismic impact.

TED also holds smaller themed conferences and events throughout the year, educating and broadcasting important new knowledge and ideas to attendees and to the world at large. Preparation for each event involves a deliberate and profoundly rigorous research process to curate speakers, and ensure that all content is accurate, informative and clearly delivered.

All TED's conferences provide a singular and unprecedented forum for public discourse, education and the exchange of new research, ideas and emerging knowledge across multiple disciplines in the sciences, social sciences, media, arts, technology, medicine and the humanities. The best TEDTalks and materials from our conferences are carefully selected by our media research team, published on our website and made available online to the public for free, in multiple languages, attracting a global audience in the millions.

PROGRAM 2 – TED Fellows program

TED deploys a dedicated staff of onsite researchers and analysts as well as external fact-checkers, thought leaders and experts, who collectively determine each submission's level of innovation, expertise and potential for impact. Upon selection, TED Fellows are trained by world experts in the most effective ways of knowledge-sharing and spreading great ideas with a view to participating in our annual TED Conference and presenting their own TED Talk, researched, thoroughly fact-checked and written over the course of several months. Their Talks are designed to educate a global audience of millions, an independent evaluation of the program determined that TED have shared ideas and connected with more than 180 million people globally, and their TEDTalks have reached an audience of more than 235 million. Fellows are also introduced to the TED community at our conferences and other special events throughout the year. The TED Fellows program has been designed specifically to help participants advance their research – and to help them connect with and educate the world at large.

PROGRAM 3 – TED-Ed

TED-Ed also educates students in over 130 countries by helping them to identify, develop and present their own ideas in the form of TED-style talks. There are currently more than 13,000 TED-Ed Student Talk groups, and the program has supported hundreds of thousands of K-12 students in developing their ideas while learning invaluable presentation literacy skills. Two other programs, the TED-Ed Innovative Educator Program and the TED Masterclass offer professional development programs for innovative educators and learning leaders within schools, districts, and educational organizations. Led by an internal team of researchers, educators, creatives and strategists, TED-Ed is helping to change the face of education worldwide and to improve the education outcomes and future potential of millions of learners, young and old.

PROGRAM 4 – TEDx

They educate and train TEDx teams to help them achieve a high standard of event production and talk curation. This is done through community outreach, the development of educational tools (including the facilitation of regular online peer-to-peer learning sessions), a digital community hub, a podcast, and workshops that are held both during and independent of TED Conferences, including the annual TEDFest Conference, held exclusively for TEDx organizers.

More than 50,000 TEDx volunteers worldwide independently produce more than 3,000 annual TEDx idea-centered events which take place in more than 170 countries. Together, they have created nearly 200,000 TEDx talks that are accessible on the official TEDx YouTube channel and have been seen more than 3 billion times. The TEDx library of recorded talks exceeds 150,000 videos and is among the largest in the world.
