HAPPENING: More urban nighthawks + delta raids in Kansas City Missouri, guy has footage on his tik tok.

Same MO as the raid in LA 2 years ago. An extraction of something.

What building is this?

They are fully blacked out over a major metro area, NOT A DRILL!

This video does pretty good going over the LA incident. One of the buildings that was part of the operation was the Guatemalan House of Culture that was supposedly vacant. Furthermore, the law firm identified in this video connects to the Podesta emails, through the name Thomas Girardi who is a partner of the law firm and whose name is referenced (twice I believe). Point is, that's a little too coincidental by my standards, and I wouldn't be surprised to find similar circumstances in surrounding this

The building itself is very strange so far, digging just a little bit has already produced a lot of weird discrepancies.

Ah, yes, the FERAL reserves, yes. You don't know this, Yolande, but back in the day, back before Auntie Shwaquanda was around, she was a board exec over in that there city we're demolishin'. Yeah, she's serf now, ours serf, but... anyway, her, what did they call 'em feral extended family members - they didn't have fathers, Yolande, always count yer blessings yaz wasn't born a serf, and half of their females were grandparents by the age of 25 - homies, yes I think that was it, oh it was just a blast! We took our Holbars and shot 'em up, ol' Gerry - you remember from last Christmas - he took a satchel charge and lobbed it into this place with lasers and BAM 'whole bunch of niggerboos poured outta the windows and RATATAT we lit 'em up with our panzers. Oh it was such a... but it's a feral reserve now. Even with reducing the city, the downtown is just too much. Ferals live in little shake 'bout ye wide - ya, your own serfs got bigger room 'emselves! - and they break down pipes to use as fencing while they haul water up themselves, up ten flights of stairs or more! The dumb ferals can't even figure out how water pumps work! Oh, the stories from the war I could tell you....

I never claimed it was a training exercise. There are still a plethora of completely normal, non-schizo reasons for this to happen.

Also, there's no evidence these are even military choppers. From what I can see in the picture in the OP, they look like MH-6 Little Birds which are used by both the military and many local police departments. So for all we know, this could just be police doing a raid on some drug dealers using an abandoned building to conduct their business.

being so close to att means it could be used to track what people are doing online, theres nothing else nearby that would warrant glowing gayops, its deductive reasoning, theres nothing else I can really think of, theres a lot nearby connected with tunnels, but unless they're there to extract the kansas city mayor with team glowhound, i cant think of another reason

Wouldn't it have been a better idea to have done this months ago while everything was still locked up, people off the streets (when they weren't rioting) etc. We've had loads of airforce training flights here during lockdown due to lack of air travel and grounded flights, same logic could apply to training ops in urban environments.

>appears to be the board of education building

Since its not a federal building and have no reason to protect it with snipers (sure were a lot more people that repeled from hele than necessary for sniper coverage) they are probably rigging the building with C4 with intentions of blowing up the building when people arrive for work in the morning.

They will then blame the bombing on "white supremacists".
