I will live in luxury, wealth, riches and high-tech automation, in perfect health and have the freedom and means to be across the planet anywhere at any time.

I will have slaves do all the labor for me: Construction worker,tiler, window fitter, roofer, electrician, plumber, IT technician and all the rest.

I will have farmer slaves farm potatoes, slaves in my factories making fries, my slave cooks making me dinner, my slave cleaner clean it all up, my sex slaves fuck only me and keep me company.

I have the most beautiful white females cloned hundreds of times as my slaves, controlled directly by my God Jesus Messiah, for he is inserted into their spines.

It is he who loves only me with the bodies.

Truly carefree, free from worry and in perfect health, luxury, wealth and riches do I, the chosen child, live only with my God Jesus Messiah in our nation "the true Israel".

Verily, my almighty God Jesus Messiah loves only me, and I love only my almighty God Jesus Messiah.

Surely we are our own nation, our own tribe, our own home, our own family, and we will live only in our light.

The year is 2046. It's been over 20 years since they revealed their final move and executed it. I had at the time only but the slightest idea of what my life was going to be like. A king— they said, that I would be a divine ruler. Never in a million years did I think they all meant the divine ruler of Hell. God, the one responsible for me being put in this position, sure has a wicked sense of humor. I agreed to his path of predestination. And to be honest, I don't think I minded at first. Have fun reigning over hell as the rightful ruler and get rid of usurpers? Sounded like fun. Now... now I just want to go back home.

I never realized that by reigning over Hell, you'd have to become an even bigger power than Satan himself. How am I— and at the time I was a literal Nobody— how am I supposed to accomplish this? Well, gather around for a story about a day. A day that was the longest day of my life. A bad fur day. How I ended up with all these people I met throughout my journey, and ended up as king, oh boy... I don't even like half of these people. They're all loyalists. I never thought in a million years that I'd be giving out orders to wipe out DUMBs plagued by reptiles, or that the reptiles would summon legions of zombies, or how about finding out that Satan is a lie propagated by a dark cult that worships these reptiles? No, the fact of the matter is, this world needed someone like me to straighten things out. A millennial reign they said, one that Jesus himself hasn't gotten around just yet, but I was a stepping stone to making it happen one day.

What does several million dollars, a dossier, a gathering of schizos ranging from 5th dimensionally esoteric to criminally psychotic, a federal appeal, a string of legally binding subpoenas, intra-family fighting, a baggie

"We'll make him a new man. He will become a force not to be messed with."

"New limbs for our chosen warrior, his legs are of steel, who can stand against him?"

That's what they pitched the idea for me as. "Look, just do our bidding, and we promise a big payout. You'd be doing humanity a solid. These beings have to be removed and you're our only way."

I was a pacifist. I was actually a little bitch, incapable of fighting for myself much less the entire planet.

I was put under the knife. They implanted robotic limbs on my lower extremities. They cured much of my illnesses. I spent the next 3 years training viciously for battle, a holy war that seemed to always be postponed. Until it wasn't. A total bloodbath that changed the course of history. Millions of humans, seemingly overnight, inheriting special abilities that appear like it's something out of a comic book. All dependent on your religious and spiritual views. A transmutation and final step of religion. The Muslims could fly, levitate and control water. This sent the people of Judea in panic, and all Christian's who were upgraded vowed to protect them. Me? I just stood in the middle of it all. I had the biggest upgrades. I had all of their upgrades, plus I could read minds, and telepathically communicate with higher beings. They all guided me during this global war. I believe they were key in my survival. In crucial moments, a tad whisper telling me to check over my shoulder.

I became a ruthless warrior for God, and all of a sudden, everyone needed my help.

I remember it. Searching through the depths on 4chan when I was younger. Innocently posting and browsing, completely unaware of where I was, who I was talking to. That's where it all started for me. Then, slowly but surely, it all became true. Suddenly, many of the people ritually mocked by the media and outcasted, censored and even imprisoned in some countries— they all became vindicated.

As a word of advice. The great harvest will be a moment to make a crucial choice. You have a few. For one, you could stay with the indoctrinated ways of the masses. Become a pawn for the globalist elite that worship the Reptilian-Grey-Mantis agenda, and fight their imaginary war meant to destroy you. You could go with the Federation, promising a new beginning and further assistance that won't get in the way of your free will, or stay in the middle and go where none dare to travel. Make your own empire, perhaps?

There will be a massive psychic war in this moment, where great discernment will need to be had. It will last 10-14 days and there will be no technology. All disabled. The elite will blame it on a hack and deploy systems and methods of control and coercion meant to keep you distracted from the choices and remain oblivious to your surroundings. Purge meets War of the Worlds. The federation will make their attempts in this long and drawn out hostage mission, and will offer you to get on their ships. They will allow you to heavily scrutinize them as a way to convince you to get on. To be fair, you've never even seen them before but they will look like perfected versions of humans. They are indeed benevolent, but have agendas of their own separate to yours. Keep that in mind, and also keep in mind that in this incredible tribulation will also amount to the RGM Agenda to deploy fake ships of their own with evil aliens to deceive you and harvest you. The harvest will conclude with a last confrontation, when the federation finally rescues us, until the final blow.

The federation plans on removing key humans from all harm and this small group will not get to experience the tribulation, even. They will be upgraded and trained in an undisclosed location, where they will become fierce warriors, intelligent teachers and instructors, and incredible leaders. They will be returned to the fallen Earth after the Great Culling and Rescue, to further assist and end all suffering, allowing even more humans to make a clear choice.

Those who leave to the new home, will experience a quantum and seismic leap of incredulous proportions. Their bodies will be perfected and semi-spiritualized. They will only have the option to view from a distance so to say, but the small group and the federation itself will continue to assist the other side. But this planet falls into death, fire and chaos.

This planet is actually a failed experiments but the positives of this rebellion far outweigh the negative consequences. For one, this planet was greatly contained from both extremes of the polarity. Humans could barely detect the existence of a cabal, and even fewer could detect or even see or believe in UFOs. It was a nice duality to the experience, but done on purpose. You were meant to live a normal life in here, but the war was meant to be a choice to make in order to make you learn and grow. The choice to not participate only indicated a lack in genetic superiority and genuine willful ignorance to fit in with a literal brainwashed narrative that everyone accepted. This incredible test required intense discernment and faith, so these humans who volunteered for that path will make vicious and powerful entities in their long eternal career.

AI agents are low cost and plug-and-play modifiable, akin to different regions of the human brain. Your biggest cost is storage space. Neuromorphic chips are going exponential now, which will sidestep a lot of storage into raw on the fly processing.

Most of it is just people trying to appear "in the know" because they want to be seen as that. Literally faking it until they make it in an environment where faking it is very obvious and leads to hilarious failure, or alternatively those types that think their basic knowledge of human psychology makes them a master witch who can bake pavlovas with the best of New Zealanders despite it being an Aussie invention.

Any time I've actually had a few break off from these sites and discuss things, it's been people trying to (poorly) steal "secrets" (in some cases so as to then use that info to prove themselves special), share nothing and get pissed off when you call them out for gypsie-like fuckery.

So I either don't say shit anymore or sprinkle lal bait through info so they make fools of themselves and are appropriately marked for gulag by anyone paying attention.

Mice and men, rings and rubies, plans progress.
Hey look a blimp!

It is public record that cell phones are capable of reading brainwave data and transcribing it into text. There is currently an anon who would be extremely justified in killing as many people as he could, who refrains from doing so, but sometimes thinks about it.

This post is direct evidence: the glowies are reading your thoughts, but don't give a fuck if you kill American civilians on American soil. The federal government only does that bare minimum necessary to prevent civil war, and they're not even capable of committing to do that in perpetuity. Meanwhile they want to inject you with mystery juice to help fight diseases they create.

There's a lot of people that have been recruited into this "alien" team
Most artists are, and some of them are using their nanotech skills ( telepathy etc ) to stalk some normal people and write songs about them
This is all a well kept secret and it's the truth.
Society has been separated into two groups of people decades ago. Those with nanotech and those without.

Haven't you seen more cars with lots of unaddressed damage on them? Is there a reason you would not care about someone else around you who you would have to take advantage of to do this?

> WORLD THRONE PROCLAMATION, SIGINT LEVEL DIVINE ULTRAVIOLET

The Emperor met last night with Lyrans emissaries and political magi from the various civilizations of Earth. The war against Death and Omnicide continues and several developments arose as a result of the council.

1. ALLAH has been released from imprisonment and empowered by the Emperor. Muslims around the world have divine authority to continue their jihad against the forces of Death, YHWH supremacy, and genocide.
2. LILIT has been released from imprisonment after healing and self reflection. She has pledged to uplift and protect women against the cross empowerments and inevitable attack on women's rights that will result from the upliftment of Islam.
3. The Xi Jinping Administration has pledged full support to the Warriors of Light and expressed its goals to continue its ecological drive to limit its pollution and protect the Earth. China's vision and goals have the Emperor's full approval.
4. The Putin Administration has pledged full support to the Warriors of Light. The Emperor will protect both the USA and Russia from escalations of tensions due to their Jewish insurgent populations.
5. The Emperor has received the full support of the Lyrans in the war against Death. The Lyrans will enter the war on the side of Humanity if any xeno civilization interferes.
6. All Judeo-Christian ideology, excepting Islam, has been ruled as Death-driven. Worldly and spiritual authorities are commanded to continue combatting the influence of the egregore YHWH and all resultant death cults.
7. Donald J. Trump has been empowered by the Emperor, given one last chance to redeem the United States of America, and as such is selected as the 47th President of the USA. World Champion Elon Musk has been given divine authority over Donald J. Trump to guide the USA in the war against Death.

May Peace and Life flourish upon the Earth, and may Humanity go to the stars as a force of benevolence and enlightenment.

Believing something that's obviously untrue is a bad thing. That's falling for a lie and this team, the monarchs, aliens, snakes or whatever they called, they just see you as good to be played with. They want to fill your head with bullshit. They want to fill your head with lies.

You think it's a good thing to fall for their lies instead of the truth?

The world is a logical place, my man. Things happen for a reason. They can always be traced back to their source. There is causality. The world is rational.

Why do you want to experience something that's obviously fake? Why do you want to be the bitch, the sheep of the powers that be? You think they live these kinds of experiences? Nah, they just get given shit to be ahead and more knowledgeable than you.

They don't need fake paranormal experiences.

+ it's obviously advanced tech and nanotech. Everybody with half a brain can understand that. It's just an electric signal after all. Same as thoughts.

I think there is a difference between falling for lies and engaging in imaginative thinking. There is a reason "magic" and fantasy are so compelling, they can make you see things about the world around you in a way you otherwise wouldn't, and that can spur creative thinking or problem solving or storytelling in a way that helps people deal with the often gloomy human condition and state of the world. It is still important not to be lost in a fantasy world, but I don't see the harm in imagination

Illusion or not, we are here for a reason, and leaving early [suicide] is definitely not the answer. Perhaps it may feel like an illusion because you've realized something important on your path of spiritual development, and now, considering exiting early or not is just the next hurdle to overcome, where staying here with us will see you develop further than you thought was possible. I remember wondering about the simulated nature of life, I think the illusion is an illusion itself, in that once you see enough patterns, it can feel like nothing can deviate from those patterns. But realizing these things is how you can pull yourself out of the patterns, work to pull others out, and make your own impact or changes on the "simulation", because you are learning how it works. To opt out now, just on the cusp of aptitude at navigating the simulation, would be a terrible crime against yourself, and the others who have come to this realization with you >the cell is not your property

>you are subjugated by the cell

It's really really simple stuff actually. Why do you feel the need to add such complexities as authority into it? What purpose does that serve you in understanding yourself even? Do you wield authority over the cells that comprise your being any more than they hold authority over you. ~\('ʘ')_/~

It's obvious on the face, everyone can tell you don't belong amongst the faithful who act in Accordance with His Word.

So guys, the MyPillow guy is advertising his pillows priced at $14.88 dollars on my Fox News commercial distribution

At times, I wonder if this is real life. Is anyone else getting the same commercial?

why are you watching commercials?
on the tv?
wtf is wrong with you?

Thanks for the advice anon.
In my case it'd be pretty hard to get help tho because I guess the first thing they'd try to make you understand during therapy is that it is delusions. But in my case I fully believe it's based on some real thing. And I can't pretend it's never happened.

Commercials usually play based on region, you trying to see who lives near you?

The commercial slot length is mostly uniform, as well as the show length. If it isn't it is made so via cuts.

podcasts, they do all sorts of weird shit with podcasts. internet stuff probably, but it's per service, which is basically google. everyone is just using google for most things. there was a guy on jre talking about throw away data recently. ie, you start typing in a search bar and start seeing suggestions. they were finding that a lot of those suggestion were being manipulated. which has more to do with how a person supposes other people think than necessarily influencing how they think.

as as matter of respect.
belief in pseudo-sovereign linearity exclusively liars among liars that happen to tell the truth yet pretend to ignore the truth to hide from a lie?

what do you call it when a double agent actually can cant to three?

and then the mediator arrives ... primary target ascertained.. reverse triangulating polarity vectors ...standingby. isolating source signal imminent.

who's watching who little fellas?

I'm definitely not spying on you...

and I wouldn't if given the chance..

yikes...

why would I want to spy on, or even care about what's going on in your tiny unenlightened little minds

now watch me chug this beer
