We are researchers who deal in open-source information, reasoned argument, and dank memes. We do battle in the sphere of ideas and ideas only. We neither need nor condone the use of force in our work here.

"We hold these truths to be self-evident: that all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness."

Cenk Uygur accuses Joe Rogan of bedding trans individuals, goes on a odd rant

admin May 13, 2022

Politician commentator Cenk Uygur is often outspoken. Uygur previously butted heads with Joe Rogan back in November of last year.

That time Uygur's animosity was pointed toward Rogan's use of ivermectin. Uygur started calling Rogan a meathead at that point and went all out on war with Rogan on his popular The Young Turks youtube channel.

This is quite a departure for Uygur considering he previously guested on Rogan.

Rogan recently made some interesting comments about a politically charged topic - the so called term grooming.

Was there a particular event or reason you decided to commit to a violent attack?

Before I begin I will say that I was not born racist nor grew up to be racist. I simply became racist after I learned the truth.

I started browsing 4chan in May 2020 after extreme boredom, remember this was during the outbreak of covid. I would normally browse /k/ because I'm a gun nut and /out/ because I love the outdoors and I eventually wound up on /pol/. There I learned through infographics, shotposts, and memes that the White race is dying out, that blacks are disproportionately killing Whites, that the average black takes $700,000 from tax-payers in their lifetime, and that the Jews and the elite were behind this. From there, I also found other sites, like worldtruthvideos website, dailyarchives.org, and dailystormer.cn where through data and exposure to real information I learned the truth. We are doomed by low birth rates and high rates of immigration. I never even saw this information until I found these sites, since mostly I would get my news from the front page of Reddit. I didn't care at the time, but as I learned more and more I realized how serious the situation was. Eventually I couldn't take it anymore, I told myself that eventually I was going to kill myself to escape this fate. My race was doomed and there was nothing I could do about it.

But then after browsing /pol/ one day I saw a short gif of a man walking into a building and shooting a shotgun through a dark hallway. I didn't think anything of it, but then I saw it again, and I looked up who this person was. I thought to myself, "Why did this person do it?"

That person was Brenton Tarrant, and after some searches I found the 17 minute livestream of him attacking the Al-Noor mosque. I eventually found his manifesto and I read it, and I found that I mostly agreed with him.

Finally I thought to myself, perhaps there is a chance that we can combat this. Maybe there is a chance that we can take control and prevent our genocide. Maybe we can combat the hedonistic, nihilistic, and individualist insanity that has taken control western thought. I then found other fighters, like Patrick Crusius, Anders Breivik, Dylann Roof, and John Earnest. These men fought for me and had the same goals I did. It was then I asked myself:

Why don't I do something?

A gunman armed with a rifle opened fire Saturday afternoon inside a supermarket in Buffalo, N.Y., killing at least eight people and wounding others in the latest mass shooting to strike America.

Details of the shooting at the Tops Friendly Market were confirmed by law enforcement officials to The Associated Press.

Rep. Brian Higgins (D-N.Y.) told CNN he was told at least eight people were killed. AP reported the death toll was as high as 10.

Police and witnesses told AP the gunman surrendered outside the store and was taken into custody. He was wearing military style clothing and body armor, they said.

"He was standing there with the gun to his chin. We were like what the heck is going on? Why does this kid have a gun to his face?" witness Braedyn Kephart said. "He dropped to his knees. He ripped off his helmet, dropped his gun, and was tackled by the police."

New York Gov. Kathy Hochul asked residents to stay away from the scene, a predominantly African-American neighborhood a few miles from downtown Buffalo.

"I am closely monitoring the shooting at a grocery store in Buffalo. We have offered assistance to local officials. If you are in Buffalo, please avoid the area and follow guidance from law enforcement and local officials," she tweeted.

Messages To Various Groups

To Conservatives

Ask yourself, truly, what has modern conservatism managed to conserve? What does it seek to conserve? The natural environment? Western culture? Ethnic autonomy? Religion? The nation? The race? Nothing is conserved. The natural environment is industrialized, pulverized and commoditized. Western culture is trivialized, pulped and blended into a smudge of meaningless nothing, with the only tenets and beliefs seemingly held to are the myth of the individual, the value of work (productivity for the benefit of your capitalist owners) and the sovereignty of private property (to ensure none of us get grand ideas of taking the unearned wealth of our owners).

Ethnic autonomy? Destroyed in the name of cheap labor, whilst they may publicly object to the illegal immigration of the third world masses, privately they push for as much migration as possible, anything to decrease the labor cost of production and line their pockets with the profits. They removed the European peoples autonomy and sovereignty for their own lust for power and wealth. Religion? What remains? Empty churches and full shopping centers? Drive through confessionals and no fault divorce? Any religious ideal that stood between the wealthy and wealthy generation was downplayed, sidelined and quietly dismantled. All so that they could line their pockets without complaints or objections.

The nation? What nations do we have to conserve? What are our own nations now based on? There is no shared culture, ethnicity, language, values or beliefs. Anyone can be a member of our nation, as long as they have the paperwork. They need not be born here, share our race, our language, our culture or our beliefs. Hear the conservatives cry, as long as they are willing to WORK, let them in! Let them own our wealthy benefactors their second yachts and their fifth properties!

The race? They don't even BELIEVE in the race, they don't even have the gall to say race exists. And above all they don't even care if it does. It's profit, and profit alone that drives them, all else is secondary. The notion of a racial future or destiny is as foreign to them as social responsibilities.

Not a thing has been conserved other than corporate profits and the ever increasing wealth of the 1% that exploit the people for their own benefit. Conservation is dead. Thank god. Now let us bury it and move on to something of worth.

Very important to fix your Twitter feed:

1. Tap home button.
2. Tap stars on upper right of screen.
3. Select "Latest tweets".

You are being manipulated by the algorithm in ways you don't realize.

Easy to switch back & forth to see the difference.

Miami man made Captain of #USSFlorida (SSGN 728)

USS Florida is a major contributor to our maritime security and is homeported at Naval Submarine Base Kings Bay.

<https://twitter.com/USNavy/status/1525627019245109260>

KINGS BAY, Ga. - The summer before what would have been his first year of college, 17-year-old Gabriel Anseeuw was working full time and playing gigs with his bandmates on the weekend. The day before his college orientation at Florida International University, he stopped for a red light at the intersection of Kendall Drive and Southwest 117th Avenue in Miami. Looking to his left, he saw a Navy recruiting station. Little did he know, that moment would change the course of his entire life.

Board settings updated.

Convert ... (normal ellipsis) to ... (Unicode horizontal ellipsis) automatically (Set to off, as keeping it on will fuck with morse code posts. Anons have been led astray because of this).

Display SAGE! on posts with sage in the Email field (Enabled just for convenience for everyone).

Show the voice recorder applet in the post form (I will leave this enabled even though I personally think it's cringe)

Don't allow users to repost files on your board (I bet no one told you this option is broken whether it's enabled or not)

Torposting is still enabled (media uploading is always disabled, by design, impossible to change)

<http://jthnx5wyvjvzsxtu.onion/> In case you need it.

Maximum number of newlines per post = Unlimited (As it should be. Spammers using up as many lines as possible are easy to deal with. We don't need to limit all anons because of a few niggers who want to shit the place up)

Bumplock after... (Changed from 24h to 72h. Doesn't matter too much with /hm/ for now, but it may in the future.)

Minimum number of characters for thread creation (Changed from 0 to 300. If your topical bread topic post does not have even enough letters in it for a tweet, it probably isn't worth it's own bread. My opinion, other owners may change if they disagree.)

There is only 1 tripcode in the whitelist. Picrel. As it should be.

Anons, by all means I welcome you to open up a META thread if you feel like we need one and you have any issues you need resolved. I will not lock it if you say mean things.

Buffalo suspect had previously threatened school shooting: report

<https://nypost.com/2022/05/15/buffalo-supermarket-shooting-suspect-payton-gendron-threatened-to-shoot-school-classmates/>

The teenager accused in Saturday's Buffalo supermarket attack had once threatened to shoot his high school classmates but was still able to legally purchase three firearms, reports and sources said.

Payton Gendron, 18, of Conklin, New York, had sparked a state police investigation last year in Broome County that led him to be referred for a mental health evaluation and counseling, according to The Buffalo News.

“A school official reported that this very troubled young man had made statements indicating that he wanted to do a shooting, either at a graduation ceremony, or sometime after,” a government official familiar with the case told the paper.

The Azov Battalion: How Putin built a false premise for a war against "Nazis" in Ukraine

<https://www.cbsnews.com/news/ukraine-russia-war-azov-battalion-putin-premise-war-vs-nazis>

March 22, 2022 / 1:02 PM / CBS News

Since Vladimir Putin ordered his military to invade Ukraine on February 24, his government has stubbornly defined the attack as a "special operation" to liberate Russia's neighbors from the clutches of a criminal regime beholden to "neo-Nazis." But the premise for Putin's war, and his repeated insistence that Russia's military is carefully avoiding civilians with its artillery barrage, are belied by the reality on the ground in cities like Mariupol.

The southern port has been under siege by Russian forces for weeks, with officials and aid groups saying food, water, and electricity have all been cut to thousands of people still trapped there. Ukrainian authorities say at least 2,300 civilians have been killed in Mariupol alone, with some buried in mass graves amid the relentless shelling.

Still, Moscow sticks to its line: "Kyiv instructed the Nazi battalions in Mariupol to leave the city under the guise of civilians, including through humanitarian corridors," Russian Defense Ministry spokesman Igor Konashenkov said Monday.

Elon Musk liked

Reminder: You have been receiving, by default, the Twitter curated tweet lineup in your main timeline. You can change this to a natural "latest tweets" of those you actually follow. I learned this from an @elonmusk tweet. Here's how to make the change:

<https://twitter.com/HeyTammyBruce/status/1525534608649031686>

Choose "latest tweets" and you will be amazed w how you will suddenly be seeing people you didn't realize had been disappeared from your timeline. Also: Whenever Twitter app is updated check to make sure you're still on the latest tweets, avoid auto reverting to curated. ❤️ US >suddenly a journalist video comes out of nowhere exposing the ff op, ten "cops" fearlessly turn their back on the shooter to remove the "journalist" >white supremacist symbols which are used by the military in the ukraine are all over the ff shooter >manifesto is coincidentally a copy pasta of christchurch shooter, doesn't generate suspicion at all >shooter marks up gun like the Christchurch shooter, not suspicious at all either so this ff appears to be another red october tactical move. This buffalo false flag was made with the aim of having it further expose the mainstream media, the war in the ukraine, the fbi, and the current administration. As well as generate further awareness in the general population world wide. I also find it interesting that it comes on the heels of elon musk's "aquisition" of twitter.

Parents Catch FBI In Plot To Force Mentally Ill Son To Be A Right Wing Terrorist

Posted on February 15, 2018

The parents of a severely mentally disabled man are speaking out on how the FBI groomed him as a right-wing terrorist, knowing he's paranoid schizophrenic.

Originally Released 08/17/17 – (TFTP) It's become a near-weekly occurrence. Somewhere in some state, the FBI will announce that they've foiled yet another terrorist plot and saved lives. However, as the data shows, the majority of these cases involve psychologically diminished patsies who've been entirely groomed, armed, and entrapped by FBI agents. Simply put, the FBI manufactures terror threats and then takes credit for stopping them.

While many of these cases have garnered attention and been exposed in the alternative media, a recent case out of Oklahoma sets a new low for FBI and exposes how insidious these plots can be.

Disney's name ID is 100%. Their fav/unfav rating was 77-21 (+56) last year. Their pos-neg rating is now 33-30 (or +3).

Entertainment brand ratings shouldn't be on par w/ politicians.

Trial opens for Clinton campaign lawyer accused of lying to FBI while planting Trump-Russia tale

Special Counsel John Durham alleges Michael Sussmann lied when he told then-FBI general counsel he was not working on behalf of a client while feeding government since-debunked Trump-Russia collusion allegations.

The first trial resulting from Special Counsel John Durham's methodical investigation into the origins of the discredited Trump-Russia collusion narrative opens Monday as 2016 Hillary Clinton campaign lawyer Michael Sussmann faces justice for allegedly lying to the FBI.

Durham alleges Sussmann lied in September 2016 when he told then-FBI-General-Counsel James Baker that he was not working on behalf of any client while feeding the federal law enforcement agency since-debunked allegations about then-candidate Donald Trump.

Judge Christopher Cooper, appointed to the bench by former President Barack Obama, will preside in the trial in U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia. The proceeding begins at 9 a.m. Eastern time.

Sussmann, a former federal prosecutor, told the FBI that the Trump Organization had a secret communications channel with the Kremlin through Russia's Alfa Bank. The FBI, CIA, Trump-Russia Special Counsel Robert Mueller and others have debunked the claim.

Durham says Sussmann was working at the time on behalf of two clients, the Clinton campaign and Zetalytics tech firm executive Rodney Joffe. Durham intends to show that Sussmann told Congress the truth about working for the Clinton campaign after he lied to the FBI. Sussmann is pleading not guilty to the charge.

Multiple people were shot on Sunday at a church in Orange County, Calif., and the suspect is in custody, the sheriff's department stated.

Deputies responded to the shooting on the 24000 block of El Toro Road in Laguna Woods. There are multiple churches on that block and authorities have not yet publicized the exact address.

"We have detained one person and have recovered a weapon that may be involved," the Orange County Sheriff's Department tweeted, adding that more information would be published shortly.

The Orange County Fire Authority said it is also on the scene and is "treating and transporting multiple patients."

The incident comes the day after another mass shooting in Buffalo, N.Y., resulted in 10 deaths.

The platonic solid dodecahedron represents the universe and everything, residing in the heavens, represented by a mystery in the form of a roman dodecahedron which no one quite has figured out what it is for. It's residing a head within a work project where a small group of people work at tasks yet all participate in the building of a hive mind naturally, spiritually via nodes of connection, and digitally. It takes hard work to perfect a mind.

But if you choose to interpret as bug eaters and transhumanism, and shitty facsimiles, that's fine for you. It isn't art done from scratch so it's not exactly how I would like it, but ah well. I hate the idea of Elon's neuralink. Imagine a BSOD happening to your brain. There's a reason hackers hate smarthomes.

BY JASON RANTZ
The Jason Rantz Show, 3pm-4pm on KTTX

Due to critically low staffing, Seattle Police were unable to quickly respond to a deadly hit and run as medics waited to be cleared to treat the victim.

To be clear, multiple sources said the victim would have died no matter how soon police were able to arrive. But no one appeared to have known that at the time and medics were not permitted to get to the victim until the officers arrived.

This is the latest incident highlighting the dangers of the department's staffing crisis.

Rantz: Did Seattle councilmembers abuse police help, while defunding department?

The delayed response

A teenage driver accidentally struck a pedestrian in West Seattle on May 7. Panicked, the unidentified driver fled, but multiple passers-by reported the collision to 911 operators.

During at least one of the 911 reports, a caller said someone had been shot on the scene. That triggers a different protocol for the Seattle Fire Department. Under its Scenes of Violence policy, SFD staff may not approach the scene until it is secured by police.

The first assigned SFD unit arrived at 10:05 pm — only two minutes after the call came in. But the unit was put on standby at a nearby staging location and waited for police to arrive and secure the scene. But cops didn't make it to the scene until 10:16 pm, some 12-14 minutes after the witness said there was a gunshot.

After SFD secured the scene, SFD tended to the victim, who was pronounced dead at the scene.

It turns out there was no gunshot, so it was ultimately unnecessary for SFD to stage before tending to the victim. The teenage driver allegedly drove home to a parent, explained what happened, and then drove back to the scene and is cooperating with police. The driver is not believed to have been injured.

Every minute matters

It's unclear when the victim died, but a source explains SFD suspects it was upon impact. But this incident highlights to consequences of the SFD staffing crisis. Had the victim not died on impact, he likely would have died because of the delayed response time.

In cases of blunt trauma, you have about ten minutes to transport the victim to the hospital for treatment. Every minute that goes by increases the likelihood of death. If police cannot arrive on the scene quick enough to maximize a victim's chance of survival — or quick enough to stop a crime in progress — it's an obvious problem.

In November '21, a boy watched as his father die because understaffed police could not arrive fast enough to secure the scene for medics to help. The death resulted in a lawsuit against the city.

This is not the fault of the SPD or SFD. They are in a position that they did not cause. A stubbornly anti-police Seattle City Council did irreparable damage to the department with defunding and demonizing.

There are countless crises that can be avoided with a fully staffed SPD. With only about 680 deployable staff and another 17 officers leaving the department in April (for a year-to-date total of 60 separations), those crises seem inevitable.

Fairfax, Virginia Schools May Expel Elementary Students For 'Misgendering' People

<https://twitter.com/FDRLST/status/1526181923491565568>

<https://thefederalist.com/2022/05/16/fairfax-virginia-schools-may-expel-elementary-students-for-misgendering-people/>

For those who scoff that Florida's new education law bans "non-existent" gender indoctrination, let the tale of Fairfax County, Virginia serve as a wake-up call.

Fairfax County's school board has long prided itself on leading the way for the nation in cutting-edge education policy and curriculum. As the tenth-largest district in the nation, it holds disproportionate sway over other school boards.

In 2015, the Fairfax school board blindsided parents with changes to its non-discrimination policy, followed by a sweeping expansion of the sex-ed curriculum and new rules governing student offenses and penalties. This is not an isolated policy. In Wisconsin, three middle-schoolers have been accused of "sexual harassment" for using biologically accurate pronouns to refer to a fellow student.

Fairfax's proposed changes, set to be approved May 26, have hit a new low. Legally meaningless offenses such as "malicious misgendering" and "outing related to gender identification" would be now punishable by up to "Level 4" sanctions. It's the last level before penalties for drug dealing, rape, and homicide.

Level 4 is the punishment meted out for assault and battery, drug consumption, theft, and arson. These penalties may be applied even to kindergarteners and include, at their worst, expulsion at the behest of the school board.

>good water filter besides Big Berkey?

>one that can remove fluoride activated alumina is the only way I know of to remove fluoride from water the basic (black) berkey filters will remove some fluoride, but the filter elements "get full" of the fluoride they will strip out relatively quickly like, after 100 gallons a brand new (black) filter is no longer removing fluoride berkey DOES have a supplemental filter (white; PF2)

it is ESPECIALLY for fluoride and will remove 100% fluoride for a large volume of filtered water that filter is 100% activated alumina

first pic related is from Berkeys data sheet on the subject

><https://www.berkeyfilters.com/products/berkey-fluoride-filter> datasheet:

>https://cdn.shopify.com/s/files/1/0167/5480/2788/files/Fluoride_Reduction_Media_Extract.pdf?236485

interestingly

I am reading reports that the Berkey PF2 (white) filter leaches 'aluminum' into the filtered water?

test was done on Big Berkey filter with black and white (PF2) filters installed distilled water was put through the filter for the test in order to determine if anything was leaching from the filter elements >the laboratory results showed:

>less than 0.001 mg/L of aluminum in the distilled water before filtering

>AND 0.80 mg/L of aluminum after it went through both the black and white filters...

>That's 4X the amount the US government allows in water.

Source:

<https://truthaboutfluoride.com/berkey-water-filter-scam/>

(shit title for the article, but they allegedly did independent testing to verify the claim)

second pic related is the lab test results

SO

-activated aluminum is the -ONLY- way to FILTER fluoride out of water

-distillation WILL remove fluoride

-if the "activated alumina" filter is not manufactured "properly" it will leach filter media (aluminum) into the filtered water

-this would be a possible fault in -ANY- activated alumina filter element

one question I have

was this test done "maliciously" in order to make the Berkey look bad?

all filters I have ever used require some amount of pre-charge flushing before they are "ready for use"

example:

most RO filter set-ups have some pre-determined volume of water that must be passed through the filter elements before they are used for potable water

ALL of this pre-charge water MUST be discarded as it contains fine particles of filter element material that still remains inside the filter bodies from manufacturing usually something on the order of 4-20 gallons, depending on the system

if this test was performed on BRAND NEW Berkey filters that had NOT undergone the manufacturer specified pre-charge flushing

then

they are just confirming the reason for pre-charge flushing the filters

if this test was performed on Berkey filters that had undergone the manufacturer specified pre-charge flushing

then

seems like the Berkey filter elements need some work not exactly an answer for your question but some things to consider in your selection of a new filter main thing is, if you want to filter out fluoride, you need something that uses activated alumina (aluminum)

if anyone else has a recommendation from experience I would be interested as well distillation is an option, but IMO it tends to be pretty resource heavy takes a lot of energy to distill a small amount of water as opposed to gravity filtration which requires zero energy

(besides lifting the water high enough to fill the gravity feed)

I loved the clean and refreshing flavor of the berkey water and felt like it hydrated me way better than tap. I did have the fluoride filter in it too and just assumed the water was clean as they advertise because I preferred it to all bottle waters I've tried. I guess tasting clean does not necessarily equal clean. But I was disappointed in the quality for the price given it leaked in a year or less. Hope I wasn't slurping down excess aluminum. That could explain a few things.... kek

Michael Flynn files $50 million claim against feds in prelude to lawsuit over Russia probe

Former Trump national security adviser, retired general alleges "malicious prosecution," "political motivation" and "abuse of process" by FBI, DOJ, the Obama White House and Special Counsel Robert Mueller.

In a prelude to a formal lawsuit, former Trump National Security Advisor Michael Flynn has quietly filed a $50 million claim against the FBI and Justice Department for "malicious prosecution" related to the now-discredited Russia collusion investigation.

The notification, known as a Form 95 Civil Claim, obtained by Just the News, was filed Feb. 22. It names the DOJ, FBI, U.S. Attorney's Office in Washington D.C., Special Counsel Robert Mueller's office and the Executive Office of the President as potential defendants and alleges former President Barack Obama and the FBI had a vendetta against him that biased their actions.

"Of all of President Trump's appointees, the Obama White House hated Flynn the most," the filing noted as it laid out a long list of irregularities in his case it said proved political interference inside the FBI.

Beginning in July 2016, "the FBI began to express disdain for candidate Donald J. Trump and began to consider ways in which it could hamper Donald Trump as candidate or as President, were he to win the 2016 election," the filing alleges.

"As part of these efforts, the FBI began to target Flynn," it claims. "Flynn was no stranger to the FBI and its leadership, many of whom considered Flynn to be a personal enemy of the FBI and the success of their own FBI careers."

Flynn, according to the form, is seeking "compensatory damages including but not limited to lost past and future earnings/revenue, emotional distress, lost opportunity to be President's National Security Advisor, significant restraints of personal liberty, attorney fees/expenses and court costs in defending against malicious prosecution, abuse of process, false arrest."

Durham, Sussmann legal teams agree on about two dozen possible jurors, trial could start by Tuesday

Special Counsel John Durham has charged former Hillary Clinton campaign lawyer Michael Sussmann for allegedly lying to the FBI in September 2016

Lawyers for Special Prosecutor John Durham and former Hillary Clinton campaign lawyer Michael Sussmann on Monday began the process of selecting a jury pool with the process possibly concluding as early as tonight.

By lunch recess, 23 jurors were confirmed out of a possible total pool of 37, from which 12 jurors will be chosen for the trial. Potential jurors were questioned about their donations to 2016 presidential campaigns and if they would be able to set aside their views of both political parties' candidates and judge the case fairly.

The trial, taking place in the U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia, is Durham's first in his probe into the origins of the now-discredited Trump-Russia collusion narrative that began in 2019.

Durham charged Sussmann in September 2021 for allegedly lying to the FBI five years earlier when he told the bureau's then-General Counsel James Baker that he was not working on behalf of any client while providing him with since-debunked allegations about then-candidate Donald Trump.

Sussmann is pleading not guilty to the charge, claiming that he did not bill "the Clinton Campaign for his meeting with the FBI in September 2016."

When a BV sees any number of EBakes even just 1, they lock them and make a state sanctioned one of their own.

I've seen't it several times now.

The number of FBI agents and senior level FBI officials who have flipped and are cooperating in the Durham case against Michael Sussmann is jaw dropping. This is just the beginning.

Witnesses who have flipped were likely facing criminal charges themselves and have decided to be used in this, and other, cases moving forward

There is no “crisis of trust” in America. There is a crisis of trustworthiness. That so many distrust persons and institutions who have misled them is, to me, a sign of health, not something to be alarmed about. What’s alarming is the lying.

President Donald Trump is named as kingmaker of the GOP in being put to the test in a three-way GOP primary race Tuesday in the Northeast state of Pennsylvania.

Cablecast calls show how Dr. Mehmet Oz is running against veteran and adjunct professor Kathy Barnett and David McCormick, veteran and former Treasury Department official in the George W. Bush administration.

Trump drew his support behind Oz over the other leading candidates on April 19. Since then, some conservatives, such as former Trump operative Jack Brown, have said Trump got his endorsement wrong, arguing that Oz "has not expressed American Christian principles that this nation was founded on."

Barnett has been coming to the polls of late, prompting Trump to release a statement explaining why he's backing Oz over Barnett.

"Kathy Barnett will never be able to win the General Election against the Radical Left Democrats," Trump said in a statement. "The last seven things in her past which have not been properly explained or noted, but if she's able to do so, she will have a successful future in the Republican Party -- and I will be behind her all the way."

Trump said Oz is "the only one who will be able to easily defeat the Radical, Radical Democrats in Pennsylvania."

Barnett made headlines on Monday after pictures of her at the Jan. 6 riot that prompted the Capitol riot surfaced, the campaign clarified why she attacked.

"Early on in DC to support President Trump and demand election accountability," Barnett campaign spokesperson said in a statement. "My assertion that she participated in or supported the destruction of property is intentionally false. She has an impeccable character in the grand scheme. There is no doubt that even had experienced impeachment, her true character would remain solid in our nation."

On her attack about election integrity on Monday, a reply he hasn't elaborated on much during the course of the campaign.

"There's no more questions," Oz said when addressing the press during results, adding that even if he's "voted" once in October.

David Bonds, host of the "State Center" television show, noted that Oz has not used words like "rigged" or "stolen" like former President Donald Trump used to describe the 2020 election.

File (hide): 6a23b182c1900d0...png (32.12 KB, 586x488, 293:244, 2_Solomon_re_45_Kingmaker_....PNG) (h) (u)

"I want to be careful," Oz said. "Republicans are about fixing things. I know for sure we've got to deal with 2020, but this is about knowing exactly what the diagnosis is so we can give it the right treatment."

The state's Lt. Gov. John Fetterman, former mayor of Braddock, is the frontrunner in the Democratic Senate primary. Fetterman suffered a stroke just ahead of Election Day, but he's reportedly recovering well. Fetterman is running against Rep. Conor Lamb (D-Pa.).

Trump was the first Republican presidential nominee to win the state of Pennsylvania in the general election since former President George H. W. Bush in 1988. Trump lost the swing state in 2020 against President Joe Biden.

Despite Barnette's rise in the polls, Oz and McCormick remain in the lead, with Oz pulling ahead slightly, according to recent polling.

Conservatives such as Texas Republican Sen. Ted Cruz have hit the campaign trail for McCormick in the final days of the race.

The polls open in Pennsylvania at 7 a.m. on Tuesday and close at 8 p.m.

Pennsylvania GOP Senate primary candidate Kathy Barnette said if she does not go on to the general election, she will not vote for the ultimate Republican nominee.

One day before Tuesday's primary, Barnette told Breitbart News Daily she would not support any Republican but herself in November. The likely Democratic nominee appears to be Lt. Gov. John Fetterman. Barnette has been polling behind Dr. Mehmet Oz but ahead of businessman David McCormick.

"I have no intentions of supporting globalists," Barnette noted. "I believe we have ran out of room on this runway for this spaceship. I believe we have very little rope left to just roll the dice and we'll see how it all works out on the other end."

Barnette expressed concern about the future of America.

"I believe our country is in trouble. I don't believe we have much longer and I believe what I have done is I have made it possible where Pennsylvanians do not have to hold their nose and vote for the lesser of two evils this time. I don't think we have room to just vote for any old warm body with an R next to their name. I think we can do better than that," she explained.

Never fails, I guy "supposedly" kills 10 black people and the Jews make it about them..

A 180-page online screed attributed to the white man accused of killing 10 people at a Tops Friendly Market in Buffalo on Saturday has brought a once-fringe white extremist conspiracy theory into the spotlight. But the underpinnings of the Great Replacement conspiracy theory, which has been iterated on over time to appeal to wider audiences, has penetrated a much more mainstream portion of American society. A recent poll, conducted by the Associated Press-NORC Center for Public Affairs Research, found that one in three American adults now believes in a version of replacement theory.

In the U.S., Miller-Idriss said white nationalists ascribe the plot to Jews who they believe are bringing in immigrants and promoting interracial marriage to suppress whites.

Vancouver Police seek victims in Assault II contamination case - 05/24

The Digital Evidence Cybercrime Unit at the Vancouver Police Department began an investigation into Stephen Sharp possessing and dealing in dozens of photos and videos depicting the sexual exploitation of children. It was learned on at least one account, child exploitation imagery was downloaded within proximity to Arby's at 221 NE 104th Ave, Vancouver WA.

On May 10, 2022, Stephen Sharp was contacted by detectives and confessed in an interview to downloading and distributing child pornography and having a sexual interest in children. He confirmed employment as the night manager at Arby's. A search warrant was executed on Stephen Sharp's digital devices located on his person and at his residence. A preliminary search by a DECU digital forensics investigator revealed a video of a subject later identified as Stephen Sharp urinating in a container confirmed to be milkshake mix from Arby's. Stephen Sharp confessed to detectives he urinated on at least two occasions into the milkshake mixture for sexual gratification.

Police are asking if you purchased a milkshake from the Arby's located at 221 NE 104 Ave, Vancouver WA on October 30 & 31, 2021 and you have a receipt or verified transaction information to confirm the purchase, please contact Detective Robert Givens at robert.givens@cityofvancouver.us or robert.givens@cityofvancouver.us. The Digital Evidence Cybercrime Unit has not located evidence that Arby's or its franchisee were aware of the abhorrent actions of Stephen Sharp.

Stephen Sharp was booked into Clark County jail on 4 counts (charging max) of Possession of Depictions of Minor Engaged in Sexually Explicit Conduct, 4 counts (charging max) of Dealing Depictions of Minor Engaged in Sexually Explicit Conduct and Assault II. The content on Stephen Sharp's digital devices is still under investigation.

They already have cases where they knowingly did that. There was a girl who reported herself as a victim and they did not remove it at all.

<https://www.foxnews.com/politics/twitter-sued-by-sex-trafficking-survivor>

<https://www.mediaite.com/news/twitter-profited-from-child-porn-refused-to-take-it-down-until-feds-got-involved-lawsuit/>

The suit, filed by an unnamed 17-year-old teen and his mother in the Northern District of California, claims the website was used to circulate child sexual abuse material (CSAM) featuring the teen when he was as young as 13 — along with other victims. The company purportedly refused to take the content down, telling the complainants in January 2020, “If you believe there’s a potential copyright infringement, please start a new report.”

“What do you mean you don’t see a problem?” the teen replied. “We both are minors right now and were minors at the time these videos were taken. We both were 13 years of age. We were baited, harassed, and threatened to take these videos that are now being posted without our permission. We did not authorize these videos AT ALL and they need to be taken down.”

Twitter took the content down, according to the lawsuit, only after the teen’s mother was able to make contact with an agent in the Department of Homeland Security, who contacted the company.

“Only after this take-down demand from a federal agent did Twitter suspend the user accounts that were distributing the CSAM and report the CSAM to the National Center on Missing and Exploited Children,” the suit said, noting the video racked up more than 167,000 views before the removal.

The illicit content allegedly originated when the teen made contact with sex traffickers posing as a 16-year-old classmate on Snapchat. An exchange of nude photos allegedly turned into blackmail with the traffickers demanding the teen produce more content featuring other minor victims, which he did.

The lawsuit, filed by the National Center on Sexual Exploitation, comes at a tumultuous time for the social-media giant. Twitter's stock value briefly tumbled by nearly 20 percent this month — from $56 to $46 — after it banned President Donald Trump and many of his followers.

Tump-backed Pennsylvania GOP Senate candidate Dr. Oz is locked in a thrilling race on Tuesday evening with hedge fund CEO Dave McCormick that's likely headed for a recount.

McCormick, a veteran, has 33.3% of the vote, compared to 33.1% for Dr. Oz, with 93.7% of the votes counted, according to the Associated Press.

A margin of 0.5% triggers an automatic recount in Pennsylvania.

"Unfortunately we're not going to have a resolution tonight," McCormick told his supporters, pointing out that thousands of absentee ballots still need to be counted.

Oz, a celebrity talk show host, was endorsed in April by former President Trump.

Kathy Barnette, a veteran, political commentator and former adjunct professor, had about 2.4% of the vote just before midnight.

A problem in Lancaster County was reported that impacted more than 20,000 absentee ballots and that could further delay the final results.

EXCLUSIVE: HB 2289: One Day, One Vote, Hand Count, Paper Ballots Is Being Stonewalled In The Arizona Senate – “It’s The Closest Thing To What President Trump Has Asked For.”

Arizona House Bill 2289 to enact smaller precinct sizes, one-day in-person voting, and hand-counted paper ballots, passed through the Arizona House of Representatives in February and is now getting stonewalled in the Senate.

“It’s one of the best bills to come along. It’s all comprehensive on election integrity, and it’s the closest thing to what President Trump has asked for. There are two holdouts, Senator T.J. Shope and Senator Paul Boyer,” said Representative John Filmore, who sponsored the bill in the House.

Democrats have even told Rep. Filmore that his bill is good, although they’ll never vote for free and fair elections.

Previously, this same critical election integrity measure was murdered in the House by RINO Arizona House Speaker Rusty Bowers, who assigned HB 2596 to all twelve House committees in order to prevent its passage. After a long fight, HB2289 passed through the house with minor changes to the original bill.

Coward Chuck Schumer Declines Invite on Tucker Carlson’s Show After Attacking the FOX Host in Letter to His Employer

Senator Majority Leader Chuck Schumer sent a letter to FOX News following the mass shooting in Buffalo, New York on Saturday.

The deranged shooter published a manifesto where he railed against FOX News and said he’s not a conservative, not a Christian, but considers himself a white supremacist, a left-wing authoritarian and an eco-nationalist.

Despite this Democrats immediately blamed Republicans and Tucker Carlson for the deadly attack. Joe Biden flew to Buffalo to deliver a nasty assault on American conservatives. And Chuck Schumer wrote FOX News where he demanded they remove Tucker Carlson from their lineup.

Earlier today Tucker Carlson invited Chuck Schumer on to discuss his fraudulent accusations.

Christine Maxwell

Christine Yvonne Malina-Maxwell (born 16 August 1950) is a British Internet content pioneer and educator, best known as the creator and co-founder of Magellan. Maxwell also co-founded the software company Chiliad and is the author of several books. She is the Program Manager of Learning Technologies at the University of Texas at Dallas.

Early life and education

Christine Maxwell was born in Maisons Laffitte, France, on August 16, 1950.[1] She is the daughter of Elisabeth Maxwell, a French-born Holocaust scholar, and Robert Maxwell, a Czechoslovak-born British media proprietor. Her father was Jewish and her mother was of Huguenot descent. One of nine children, siblings include her twin sister Isabel Maxwell, brothers Kevin Maxwell and Ian Maxwell, and Ghislaine Maxwell. Her mother stated that all of her children were brought up Anglican.[2] From 1960, her family resided at Headington Hill Hall, where the offices to Robert Maxwell's Pergamon Press were located.

After attending senior school at Milham Ford School in Oxford, England, in 1969, she entered Pitzer College, Claremont, California, from which she received the degree of Bachelor of Arts with a major in Latin American Studies and Sociology in May 1972.

In September 1973, Maxwell entered Lady Spencer Churchill College of Education (now part of Oxford Brookes University). She graduated in June 1974 with a Post-Graduate Teaching Certificate. Maxwell later earned a master's degree in Interdisciplinary Studies from the University of Texas at Dallas

Career

Maxwell was an editor for Pergamon Press Publishers, in the early 1970s.

According to Tatler, Maxwell spent most of the 1970s and 1980s working for her father, which included running the West Coast office of Pergamon Press and involvement in one of his software acquisitions.[3]

From September 1974 to June 1976, Maxwell worked as a middle-school teacher at Shepherd's Hill Middle School in Blackbird Leys, Oxford.

In the late 1970s, she became a school editor for A. Wheaton & Company in Exeter, England. Maxwell is the author of The Pergamon Dictionary of Perfect Spelling,[4] first published by Pergamon Press Ltd. in 1977. The book became an international bestseller, proving valuable for dyslexic learners.[5] Maxwell rewrote and updated the book in 2005.[6] Her book has been republished several times: in 2005 under the title Dictionary of Perfect Spelling by Barrington Stoke Publishers, in 2007 under the title Spell it Right by Berlitz, and most recently as the School Spelling Dictionary in 2012 by Barrington Stoke.

Information technology

Maxwell became a resident of the San Francisco Bay Area in 1979.[7]

In 1982, Maxwell acquired Information on Demand, one of the earliest information brokers, which was later renamed Research on Demand.[3]

Maxwell is the creator and co-founder of Magellan, one of the first professionally curated online search/reference guides to Internet content.[7][8] In 1992, she created and co-authored one of the first hard-copy reference guides to the Internet: New Riders Official Internet Yellow Pages[9] and The McKinley Internet Yellow Pages;[10] both published by Macmillan Publishers in 1994 and 1995 respectively.

After Magellan was acquired by competing search engine Excite, in 1996,[11] she co-founded Chiliad:[12] a software company involved in the advance of on-demand, massively scalable, intelligent mining of structured and unstructured data through the use of natural language search technologies. The firm's software was behind the data search technology used by the FBI's counterterrorism data warehouse.[13] As of August 2019, Maxwell served as the board director of Chiliad, Inc.[5]

She is the Program Manager of Learning Technologies at The University of Texas at Dallas[14] where she is also involved in Special Projects for Information Resources.[5]

Maxwell is a former Trustee of the Internet Society[15] and The Santa Fe Institute.[16]

She serves on the boards of the International Center for Disability Resources on the Internet[17] and Leonardo/OLATS.[18]

In 2011, she was appointed an IPv6 Fellow[19] of the Internet Protocol version 6 Forum in recognition of her contributions to support the promotion, deployment, and technology advantages of version 6 around the world.

Other activities

Maxwell was appointed director of The Environment4Change Foundation, a London-based environmental consulting organization, in June 2019.

Pennsylvania Election Thrown Into Chaos Due to Unexpected ‘Error’ Affecting Mail-In Ballots

The Pennsylvania primaries have been thrown into disarray after an election “glitch” caused an issue for thousands of mail-in ballots.

“An error by a company that prints ballots for several Pennsylvania counties made thousands of mail-in ballots unreadable Tuesday as voters were deciding hotly contested primaries for governor and U.S. Senate in one of the nation’s most important battleground states,” PBS reported.

“Officials in Lancaster County, the state’s sixth most populous, said the problem involved at least 21,000 mailed ballots, only a third of which were scanning properly,” the report stated. “The glitch will force election workers to redo ballots that can’t be read by the machine, a laborious process expected to take several days. Officials in the GOP-controlled county pledged that all the ballots will be counted eventually.”

“Citizens deserve to have accurate results from elections and they deserve to have them on election night, not days later,” Josh Parsons, a Republican and vice chair of the county board of commissioners, said at a news conference. “But because of this, we’re not going to have final election results from these mail ballots for probably several days, so that is very, very frustrating to us.”

That, along with Evening Shift, were the last of the "fast" breads during 2021/22 usually clocking in at 2 hours.

Let's see what happens as the slow time on Day Shift begins now.

4 hour bread?

Cont.

Ghislaine Maxwell was a notorious moderator on REDDIT, moderating multiple boards to control information

Christine Maxwell has a background in IT

>In 1982, Maxwell acquired Information on Demand, one of the earliest information brokers, which was later renamed Research on Demand

>Maxwell is the creator and co-founder of Magellan, one of the first professionally curated online search/reference guides to Internet content.

>In 1992, she created and co-authored one of the first hard-copy reference guides to the Internet: New Riders Official Internet Yellow Pages

Ebot

>After Magellan was acquired by competing search engine Excite, in 1996,[11] she co-founded Chiliad:[12] a software company involved in the advance of on-demand, massively scalable, intelligent mining of structured and unstructured data through the use of natural language search technologies. The firm's software was behind the data search technology used by the FBI's counterterrorism data warehouse.[13] As of August 2019, Maxwell served as the board director of Chiliad, Inc.[5]

Parts of the archives do, indeed, keep going back to child porn. Take, for example, a series of posts from the spring of 2009, including one from June, when the logs show no record of Watkins appearing on the board where moderators lodge deletion requests board for a month. A moderator seeking his help handling the sharing of pedophilic content complained about that lack of participation in a post they made searching him out on another discussion thread where he was more active. In that post, the moderator offers several potential courses of action to Watkins, including three different ways to delete the suspect post, along with an option of frankly admitting he doesn't care if Pink is "viewed as dating service or child porn exchange BBS" because of the consistent volume of pedophilic sharing that keeps happening. Instead of quickly replying to what many would see as an urgent and concerning problem, Watkins responds, "Let me drink some coffee before I read this deeply."

and had been fucking this exact same crew up and down the boards for literally the last 2(?) years

BTFO before they even started only "problem" with OSS is he is so far beyond holding your hand to prove it to you

kek

I can legit see how OSS got so bitter like other anons I am not going to "just take someones word on it" for anything

I refused to take OSS advice and gave the commskaren crew the benefit of the doubt until they proved to me how absolutely disengenuous they were then I had that own experience myself when newfags came on board and learned to bake and I had to deal with newfags learning about Gerbil for the first time

I was in a shit position

I dont keep sauce on Gerbil being a fucking retard and what am I supposed to do invite the newfag to a prive board for "debriefing" on the "known suspects"

.....sounds pretty gay

I had patiently watch newfag engage with gerbil

get burned

get pissed off about it

learn the tactics and patterns and come to the understanding on their own

I dont know how many time OSS has done this but after "x" number of times

it gets old

and you realize any influence you put into the newfags realization process usually just creates friction between you and them, and delays the process

I dont mean to put words in the fags mouth

but I am starting to understand his position or perhaps more accurately

I am starting to understand his position circa 1 year ago

What Durham's up against: Juror donations, judge's family ties at Sussmann trial spotlights DC's liberal leanings

Juror donations, judge's family ties at Sussmann trial spotlight DC's liberal leanings

Presiding judge's wife represents former FBI lawyer Lisa Page, whose texts critical of then-presidential candidate Donald Trump led to her departure.

The trial for 2016 Hillary Clinton presidential campaign lawyer Michael Sussmann this week in Washington, D.C., highlights the left-leaning of the nation's capital — with as many as three jurors reportedly having donated to the Clinton campaign.

A fourth juror on the 12-member panel supported New York Democratic Rep. Alexandria Ocasio Cortez, according to the New York Post.

In addition, presiding federal judge Christopher Cooper says he and Sussmann were "professional acquaintances" while at the Justice Department in the 1990s. And the judge's wife represents former FBI lawyer Lisa Page.

Page exchanged text messages critical of then-GOP presidential candidate Donald Trump during the 2016 campaign with then-FBI agent Peter Strzok, with whom she was having an extra-marital affair.

The District of Columbia votes overwhelmingly for Democratic candidates, with Democrats outnumbering Republican voters 76.5% to 5.4%, according to the most recent figures from the city's Board of Elections.

In 2016, D.C. voters favored Clinton over Trump, 90.9% to 4.1%.

Special Counsel John Durham's team objected to putting one Clinton donor on the jury after the man said he would "strive for impartiality as best I can," the Post also reported.

However, the prosecutors were overruled by Cooper, of the U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia, who said the Clinton supporter "expressed a high degree of confidence" that he wouldn't be biased.

>Or you can take the lake city quiet pills.

Lake City Quiet Pills refers to an unsolved mystery about the image-hosting site LakeCityQuietPills.com, suspected to have been run by Redditor /u/ReligionOfPeace (a.k.a. Milo). Some have speculated that Lake City Quiet Pills was a front for ex-military contract assassins, and have attempted to draw connections between the site and the assassination of Hamas officer Mahmoud al-Mabhouh in late January 2010. Some have also speculated that "quiet pills" is a slang expression referring to "bullets."

>Is Jim stupid / a retard?

Yes, if he still thinks Q will ever drop again on 8kun after the B fiasco on /projectdcomms/ and Jim's subsequent handling of it.

No, if keeping Q away was part of Jim's plan / blackmailed orders.
